Justyn Rigby and Arthur Mackey Successful in Grain Judging At Edmonton

The Peace River country has once again been placed very much in the public eye. Late Thursday afternoon W. B. Morrison, District Agriculturist, escorted a wire to the effect that Justyn Rigby of the Venable district and Arthur Mackey of Teague Creek district, representing the Grande Prairie Junior Grain Club, were successful in winning top honors in the final elimination competition in grain judging at Edmonton.

The boys will now compete in the national contest to be held at the Royal Winter Fair, Toronto, on November 18. According to the wire, the winners will leave Edmonton for Toronto on November 15.

Both boys have been consistent active members in the Junior Grain Club since its inception and have been winners in both the local and national shows.

Rigby is a graduate of the Vermilion School and Mackey of the Peace River School.

The success of the boys indicates the value of the training received in the Junior Grain Club work, which is under the direction of the District Agriculturist's office.

I am very pleased indeed to learn that the boys were so successful," was the way Mr. Morrison expressed his pleasure of the notable win.

The boys will have with them to Toronto the best wishes of the people of the Peace River country.

Enjoyable Banquet Closes Teachers' Convention

A banquet in the Speke Hall on Friday evening brought the most successful teachers' two-day convention to a close.

The hall was filled to capacity and the banquet, furnished by the ladies of the Church of England, was greatly enjoyed.

H. T. Sharby, president of the teachers' convention, occupied the chair. The various speeches were interspersed by the following musical program: Vocal duet by Mr. and Mrs. L. Vaughan, Miss Ruth Robertson accompanying at the piano; violin solo by Miss M. Poppin, and vocal solo by Ed Napstad.

The selections were all well rendered and evoked much applause.

Grande Prairie Educational Center States Mayor Toolley

Mayor Toolley, who was the first speaker, after welcoming the visitors, observed that it could be truthfully said that a gathering of teachers excited more interest than possibly any other gathering.

During these hard times we hear much from the teachers' union, said H. T. Sharby, who complimented the teachers on helping to meet the situation by taking a cut in salary.

The Mayor referred to the added importance of the Grande Prairie as a result of the fact that it had become a real educational center and a municipal center.

Developing this idea further, H. T. Sharby referred to the necessity of establishing a public library, a start on which had been made.

The speaker felt that with Premier Abernethy as Minister of Education, everything possible would be done for education.

After emphasizing the importance of the teaching profession in moulding the future citizens of the country, Mayor Toolley closed his remarks by wishing to see Mr. Balfour back again and able to be present. He was pleased also to see Mr. and Mrs. Walker, who will reside here, also present.

Teaching One of Nobler Professions in the World, Says M.L.A.

Timely Hints From the Beaverlodge Sub-Station

By W. D. Albright
"IT IS A PLEASURE AS WELL AS A DUTY TO SERVE"

October clamps her iron heel in pitiless adieu.

What a relief to have the threatening dome. Things might be worse.

By some means or other the drinking water should now be tempered for the stock.

Touch a wet finger to a piece of iron some cold morning, and when biting the horses remember how it felt.

Stuff chaff or straw under any hog cabins or raised floors on which animals must lie, and bank around these structures.

Hunted by both man and nature, the average pioneer settles in this year of his life and meets his obligations.

A neighbor who persistently wears away from his place is not wanted, so that an occasional shot keeps them away. Other species not fired at do not seem to mind the gun. These make themselves at home in proportion as the sparrows are kept away.

To a considerable extent bedding may be employed to save feed. Animals resting snugly on a cushion of dry straw will make much better gains than those shivering as they lie uselessly on rough frozen earth or hard lumps of droppings. There is plenty of good straw this year and none too much strong fattening grain. A word to the wise.

Contact with the farming public these days reveals active interest in the question of keeping swine free of worms. Minneapolis giving prescriptions are available to those interested. The sub-station's recent experience with the stevenson formula has been encouraging so far as it goes. Lacombe endorsed it, also, though recommending a gasoline formula for bad cases of known infestation.

October this year brought readings of -0.1° on 26th, -11.2° on 29th; -9.0° on 30th; -11.2° on 31st, and 1925-26 the coldest night was -11°.

each and would much rather buy than raise them at that price if assured of good breeding.

Since we must now figure back, it is only fair to allow something for the good profit of pig raising this past season, so it would seem reasonable that the sow owner should allow from two to four dollars per pig marketed, depending upon breeding, thrift and other factors. $83 per pig.

Created Wheatgrass for Lawns
The Fairway strain of Created wheatgrass has met with considerable success for lawn-making purposes. Dr. L. E. Kirk, Dominion Agronomist, remarking the number of new lawns established in western Canada with this species. Beaverlodge experience with it has not been unqualified, for while the plots were remarkably even it furnished scarcely so dense a mat as did the normal plots of Kentucky blue. Creeping red fescue, now was so fine and soft as those during the summer. One plot was polluted with Shepherd's purse. Dr. Kirk questioned whether it had been sown thickly, or whether the seed was of poor quality. The seed was thick sowing of Created wheatgrass has been found of the greatest importance. It is very difficult to thicken up an established stand. He used at least a pound of seed per square foot and sometimes one and a half or two, excessive seeding not being detrimental. The Beaverlodge plots were actually laid at a pound per 1,000 square feet, a little less than the normal rate. The plots were laid in the early-spring and the late-autumn months.

Northward Ho!
Accounts agree that the more northerly areas of the Peace have this year been better in crop production than the southwesterly. A grain inspector remarked that the best wheat he saw in the Peace in 1935 came from the Battle River section. Township 90 and above. A grain report told of more than twenty trucks hauling grain to Grimsby along the Battle River highway. Much of it grading 22 and 24 bushels per bushel. Another official, whose beat had included Fort Vermilion, was enthusiastic about the grain that the Peace section good reports come by mail from Thick R. Smith, Mrs. Sheridan Lawrence, and others. Mrs. Lawrence, from the Buffalo Head Prairie under date of October 12 that there had been little, small potatoes, and only the green feed remained to be stacked. Wheat and alfalfa were still green and ready to bloom. Mrs. Sheridan Lawrence mentioned that while some late-sown wheat was badly frosted, the general crop result was excellent.

Albert Lawrence, in charge of the Fort Vermilion sub-station, could not say quite so much as Mr. Smith about the progress of threshing, which, in his neighborhood, had been interrupted by weather and mishaps, but the harvest was completed, and the 14th and 15th of September had been on the whole satisfactory. He mentioned a larger quantity of vegetables had been sown in Fort Vermilion. Potatoes, cabbages, and other crops were well. Every cellar was full. Katharine Peterson, who lives on the Buffalo Head Prairie under date of October 12 that there had been little, small potatoes, and only the green feed remained to be stacked. Wheat and alfalfa were still green and ready to bloom. Mrs. Sheridan Lawrence mentioned that while some late-sown wheat was badly frosted, the general crop result was excellent.

A Hurricane First Aid Test
A miniature hurricane, sweeping over the Ridgeview, Ontario, and surrounding areas, having been developed by the Boy Scouts on fair day, an unexpected job. This was the only one of the kind in the province. A considerable number of persons, several of them injured seriously.

Scouts Become Real Adventurers
Turning Boy Scout "adventure" into the real thing, three Philadelphia Scouts, who had been sent to a New Jersey permanent Scout camp, are planning to explore unknown areas of the 200 square mile, Oakton, Virginia, swamp, on the Georgia-Florida border. The boys will seek specimens of rare fish, small mammals, and other animals of the Academy of Natural Sciences.

Again the House Monster
Scotland's "Loch Ness monster" is to have no rest. Scientists, zoologists, fishermen and sailors have failed. Boy Scouts are going to have a go at it. Review of Alberta's Winnings At Big Exhibitions

Peace River Country Leads With 501 Prizes At Chicago and 239 At Toronto

Alberta exhibitors in seed grain and live stock soon will be setting out once more upon the trail of the elusive prize at the big exhibitions at Chicago and Toronto. In spite of the disappointing features of the 1935 crop season, the province is almost certain to continue its great showing of the past, at least in some of the classes.

A survey recently completed by the Alberta publicity bureau reveals that in the 13 years since the Royal Ontario and the Chicago International exhibitions of the continent, the province has won a grand total of 2,779 prizes at the two big exhibitions. This is a record which has been challenged by no similar territory in America. Of this total 740 were in seed grain and the balance in live stock, poultry, dairy products, etc.

In the total included 154 champions, 1,729 were in live stock and poultry, 239 in grain and 263 miscellaneous. The total of champions in the 13 years was 121, 111 were in live stock and poultry, and 10 in grain.

Prizes should be associated at all times to protect the large investment in farm machinery from rapid depreciation. The most common frost and direct sunlight are the most destructive elements encountered by farm equipment.

"Anne of Green Gables" Replete With Heart-Tug

It is a Beautiful Story of Delightful Adolescent Romance and Features Ideal Players: Reveals the Transformation Wrought by the Orphan Heroine in the Lives of a Spinster and Her Bachelor Brother

Pursuing a policy of bringing action classics of early youth to the screen, L. M. Montgomery's famous novel, "Anne of Green Gables" has been filmed as a follow-up to the tremendously successful "Little Women" by RKO-Radio.

A story of a whimsical orphan when Mark Twain once referred to as the most delightful girl character of fiction, "Anne of Green Gables" has been a favorite with youthful and adult readers for twenty-six years.

The story reveals the transformation wrought by the orphan heroine in the lives of the spinster and her bachelor brother who adopt her. It also traces a delightful boy-and-girl romance which has its inception in a country school acquaintance.

The characterization of the central figure is said to be particularly appealing in that it presents an entirely different type of orphan from the conventional sad-faced child. Anne of Green Gables is a girl who has abundant vitality and imagination and a full share of the fiery temper that is supposed to get into the blood of the red-headed Irish.

Prince Edward Island, Canada's picturesque island province, is the locale of the story. L. M. Montgomery lived there and wrote of a people and a region she knew intimately.

Recent plans were taken in duplicating the original locale for the film. Residents of

"My Song For You" Is a New Rich and Appealing "Musical"

It is a Real Musical Treat, and Jan Kiepura Delights With Renditions of Operatic Aria and Sentimental Ballad; His Infectiously Happy Personality Represents Magnificent Entertainment

A rich musical treat is in store for all music lovers, and others, who attend the Capitol Theatre Friday and Saturday, November 14, 15, and 16, Jan Kiepura, the famous Polish tenor, will present in this popular Grande Prairie movie theatre in a new "musical," "My Song For You," a picture which is developed by Sonnie Hale with a wealth of experience gained on the stage.

Jan Kiepura sings operatic arias and combines humor and romance in sentimental ballads, and his infectious happy personality represents magnificent entertainment.

Sonnie Hale deals with freedom and charm, and also in the cast are Alleen Marston, a young artist who undoubtedly has a fine screen career before her, Emily Williams, Muriel George, Reginald Smith, and George Merritt. "My Song For You" is a picture which will entertain the whole family.

The story is a light-hearted one of a young tenor's romantic escapade with a pretty girl, who tries to ruin a job for her sweetheart. It

MILESTONES IN AIR HISTORY

A Comprehensive Review of Aviation From The Earliest Times To The Present Day

Who was the world's first aerial record maker?

Going back roughly 150 years—and ignoring for the moment the tales of those mythical gentlemen who were said to have flapped their way skyward in weird contrivances—we find that it was a young Frenchman, J. F. Pilatre de Rozier, who was the first to make a well-authenticated ascent into the air in any kind of man-carrying machine.

Hot Air Balloons

De Rozier ascended 80 feet in a Montgolfier hot air balloon, remaining up in the air about four minutes. This date was October 15, 1783, and this height record was rather different from the highest stratosphere ascent recorded at the present time, which stands at 105,000 feet.

De Rozier's first ascent was beneath a captive hot air balloon. But he soon followed it up by making a balloon voyage of 5 1/2 miles across Paris, taking up with him the world's first air passenger, the Marquis d'Arlandes. And in the same year, 1783, there was an ascent by the first small hydrogen-filled balloon from the Champ de Mars, Paris. This balloon descended in a village about fifteen miles from the French capital, and the superstitious villagers were so terrified that they attacked it with stones.

On Thursday afternoon Mrs. Austin and Walter Reich motored to Dawson Creek.

Laurie Shaffner held a dance celebrating the opening of his new house. A good time is reported.

The Women's Institute held a meeting at their hall on Friday, Oct. 26. Saturday night they held a party for the Clatsop. Another good time.

Miss McLaughlin spent the week-end at Mrs. A. Austin's.

BUSINESS MEETING

A business meeting of the Grande Prairie and District Flying Club will be held in the clubhouse on Sunday, November 10, at 2:30 p.m. All members and prospective members are invited.

TUPPER CREEK

TUPPER CREEK, B.C., Nov. 5.—Mrs. Shaffner and Mrs. Phillips gave a party the other night, the occasion being Mrs. Brunning's birthday. They all had a jolly time.

G. P. Model Club

A few of the Grande Prairie Model Club members have been making improvements to the workshop. Some new benches have been set up and some cupboards and shelves built. The jig saw has been installed and all the other equipment is ready for use. A new lathe is expected to arrive in the near future.

Nick Towse: "What's the difference between a land plane and a sea plane?"

President Burgess: "Well, a sea plane can land, but did you ever see a land plane that could see?"

Bob James: (on seeing "Phoney" Wright climbing out from the wreckage of his home-made glider that had crashed). "Well, Phoney, are you very mad?"

"Phoney": "Now, it didn't make me seem a bit."

The new jig saw is now in operation on a separate motor, so that it can be used by both the Model Club and the Flying Club.

A new saw is now installed which will help a lot in cutting material to the required sizes.

A new lathe is expected soon and will be installed in the workshop, which will enable the club to turn out different shapes of woodwork, for model planes and other craft work.

The club can now boast of a small library, consisting of books and magazines on model and craft work. It is expected to grow rapidly with additional books and plans from the boys themselves.

The executive committee like to see the parents and others visit our workshop on the following nights: Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

A number of short lessons will be given soon by the club. The steel square and will be followed by lessons on use, etc., of other tools.

Never before has there been a hubbub. Russell with hammer and Nick with saw were going at it tooth and claw.

Hammering, sawing, working with wrench and screwdriver.

Part of the gang were building benches.

Heard above the busy hum was the cry of Russ when he hit his thumb.

Jack James.

The membership is growing a little, but still have room for a few more.

The Shop Superintendent has been among the missing of late, but learn that he is back and ready for business. He will likely be on deck at the next meeting.

The boys will commence work on model and craft work this week. Don't forget to bring your tools and any material you have. "And don't forget your dues."

EAST END NEWS

ANNIVERSARY OF NOVEMBER 11

Those of us that were actually on the battlefields of the Great War will appreciate this Remembrance Day but I often wonder when we remember those mothers, wives and sweethearts that are mourning their loved ones that were buried on the battlefields if it would not be best to say "let us forget" and not bring before their minds those awful memories of blood and sacrifice.

Some lines came to my notice a few years ago that I should like to pass on. They were written by E. T. Morgan.

The Blind Soldier Speaks

Armistice Day. Flags flying, whistles, speeches, shouting cheers.

And after that a ball game in the park. Laughter, noise and sweethearts, color.

And I sit here waiting in the dark.

Grin battlefields, red with the blood of men.

Emblazoned on a war-scarred memory By days of conflict, nights of pain and tears—

These of the sights my darkened eyes must see.

Another day in which to celebrate. A calm day, a happy, carefree lark. Confetti falling, banners, bonfires.

And I sit here waiting in the dark.

THE BEST OF THE WEEK'S INTERESTING NEWS PICTURES

WHEN DIPLOMAT MEETS DIPLOMAT AT ADDIS ABABA

Although Mussolini was pouring troops into Africa by the thousand when this picture was taken, these two diplomats went through their usual paces apparently undisturbed. Here we see Count Vinti, Italian Minister in Addis Ababa, kneeling to Emperor Haile Selassie at a reception a little over a month ago. Since this picture was taken Vinti has been removed from his residence and is kept under strong guard as he refuses to leave Ethiopia.

ONE OF THE GREATEST FIRES EVER SEEN IN AUSTRALIA

Here is an aerial view of the greatest fire in the history of Sydney, and one of the biggest ever witnessed in Australia. It shows the Goldborough Mart Wool Stores at Darling Harbor being completely destroyed by the flames, which did more than $5,000,000 worth of damage. Two hundred firemen fought the blaze for hours and eight were seriously injured by falling debris.

THE WEDDING OF THE KING SPAIN'S SON

And brilliant scenes recalling the splendor of the old Spanish court, the Infante Don Juan, youngest son of ex-King Alfonso and heir to the Spanish throne, was married to the Princess Maria Mercedes of Bourbon-Styria in the Basilica of St. Mary of the Angels, Rome. The wedding signified the close of a long feud between the rival Carlist and Pretender to the Spanish throne of which Don Alfonso (Alfonso XIII) is head and the legitimist claimants to the Spanish throne, of which King Alfonso is the head. Infante Don Juan is now the sole future claimant. In the picture the bride and bridegroom are leaving the church after the ceremony, and on their way to visit the Pope to receive his blessing.

HOW ROME RECEIVED THE NEWS OF THE FALL OF ADOWA

A cheering, war-crazed crowd is shown in the picture following the official communication in the Piazza Colonna, Rome, broadcasting the news of the fall of Adowa. Some of the banners read: "The Tri-Color Waves Over Adowa," "Where is the Italian Flag? Viva il Duce!"

What One Girl Wore:

By Betty Brownlee

Two definite influences are responsible for the lavishness of trimming this season. A strong present influence is evidenced in the current use of embroideries, metallic ornaments and beaded work, and a revival of the fashions of 1930, and even earlier, accounts for the introduction of other trimmings, such as velvet ribbon, striped silks, passementerie, soutache braid, and also embroideries.

Beaded embroidery, after an absence of several seasons, makes its appearance once more and is used as a trimming on some of the smartest frocks. The frock illustrated this week is typical of the new ones which feature beaded embroidery as a trimming. It is of the dressy type, nice for afternoon occasions, and is done in heavy black satin-backed crepe. The head embroidery is used lavishly at the wide neckline and as a hem border.

This frock is cut on lines which emphasize most of the features of the new Fall silhouette. The circular skirt is flared and shorter, skirt lengths having changed slightly this year. True, the change is not a drastic one, but some of the Paris couturiers, in their latest showings, have lifted street and daytime frocks to anywhere from 12 to 15 inches from the floor. The fitted waistline and voluminous sleeves, tightly fitted at the wrists, are in the latest manner, also.

The sash, which ties softly, is designed by using a padded roll of the material, affixing jeweled ball ends.

A smart afternoon frock for fall wear is of heavy black satin-backed crepe, lavishly trimmed with beaded embroidery at the neckline, hem and at the ends of the sash. The circular skirt and draped sleeves accent the new silhouette.

The dress of lightweight wool is perhaps the most practical for daytime wear at this time of the year. This is particularly true if you're a business girl, who's likely to go direct from the office to keep a nice date.

At this season both crepe and lightweight wools answer the purpose beautifully. The wools are especially nice, however, for just now they are warm enough to be worn with the little jackets or capes so popular this season and later on they'll be grand under winter coats.

Among the most favored colors in these wool frocks, which are smart for either daytime or "dress up" occasions, are rust, green and brown, the latter or almost limitless range.

The frock illustrated today is one of the smart lightweight wools we've been talking about. It is in one of the darker browns and has an unusual make with a V-shaped center buttoning high up at the draped neck with the buttons on the shoulder.

Creamy white, smooth-lined outlines the high-placed pockets and the cuffs. It is tucked at the flared inset in the front of the skirt, but the back is quite flat. A belt of cream-colored suede completes the picture.

A smart frock for daytime wear, and even dressier occasions, is this one, of dark brown wool.

BRITAIN'S RIVALS TO THE CANADIAN QUINTS

Great interest has been created by the birth, in London, England, of quadruplet boys to Mrs. Mary Nichols, a metal worker. The picture shows the little tots in charge of the Sister of Washington Ward at the Royal Free Hospital, London, who is looking after the babies. Hospital officials state that as far as can be judged the mother and children are likely to flourish.

Ruth Nichols, famous woman pilot, who was seriously injured when her plane crashed near Troy, N.Y. Capt. Harry Hubblitch, who was piloting the plane at the time, died of his injuries. Surgeons say Miss Nichols has a fair chance of recovery providing internal complications do not set in. Miss Nichols crashed in New Brunswick in 1931, at the commencement of a proposed flight to Europe.

LEUCORRHOEA

It comes as a surprise to find how many women are uncomfortable because they are suffering from leucorrhoea, or white discharge, other than blood, commonly spoken of as "the whites." The surprise is not that so many have this complaint, but rather that they do not secure proper treatment for it, so that they may be relieved of the annoyance and discomfort which it causes.

The cervix, or lower opening of the uterus (womb), contains many glands which secrete a fluid. This fluid is colorless and viscous, much like the white of egg. If, for some reason, these glands become over-active, an excess of secretion is produced which appears as a discharge; this is a simple form of leucorrhoea.

The glands become over-active if the cervix becomes inflamed or infected. This usually means that the cervix having suffered some injury, commonly in child-birth, allows the entrance of germs which set up an acute infection, or a chronic infection which may last for years.

The discharge, in such cases, may be profuse, and instead of being clear it may take on the appearance and color of pus.

A similar condition occurs if the woman becomes infected with gonorrhoea. This form of leucorrhoea, which is a symptom of gonorrhoea, differs in no way from that which occurs as the result of infection with any other germ.

Leucorrhoea, at best, is a persistent annoyance. If it is due to gonorrhoea, it is part of a serious disease because of the tendency of gonorrhoea to spread upwards and to attack other organs. Leucorrhoea, always means that the cervix is being irritated. Chronic irritation is associated with cancer, and this is sufficient reason for urging the proper treatment of all cases of leucorrhoea.
